

MORNING APPEAL

SATURDAY, JANUARY 21

WHITE FOR FREE COINAGE.

Stephen White, the newly elected Senator from California is sound on the currency question. In his speech of acceptance he said:

"That there should be no more law than is essential to liberty and security; that the Government should be honestly and economically carried on without the use of over complex machinery; that the judiciary shall administer exact justice, and that the Republic shall have within it no office or officer not within the easy approach of the poor and weak, the great and strong, are precepts which will not be denied. Nor do I think that many will be found to dispute that an honest currency, offering no advantage to bankers, bondholders, speculators or monopolists not also afforded to the laborer the producer and to our numerous and ill-treated agriculturists, is not only desirable, but essential. I have often expressed myself in favor of gold and silver, and I trust that a condition of things will soon be brought about that will lead the people of this country and those selected to its National Legislature to recognize that a contracted currency is not in the interest of the tiller of the soil, of those who really need protection, but is after all a mere means of further enriching the possessors of those enormous fortunes which today constitute the greatest menace.

NO DISCREPANCY.

The Reno Journal seems to be able to take the premium for being more largely misinformed on State Capitol matters than any paper in Nevada.

It claims that there is a discrepancy between the Governor's figures on the State debt and the Controller's report of it. The Journal figures the discrepancy at $22,729.65.

On page 3 of the Controller's report the State debt is placed at $213,282.39, January 1st, 1893.

On page 2 of the Governor's message, he figures the State debt January 1st, 1893, at $213,282.39.

There don't seem to be much of a discrepancy in these figures.

The Journal man got the debt of 1891 and 1892 mixed and hence made the error, just as it did recently in the cost of running the State Prison and Insane Asylum.

It Didn't Pay.

Once upon a time a man got mad at an editor and stopped his paper. The next week he sold his corn at four cents below the market price. Then his property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the Sheriff's sale. He was arrested and fined $8 for hunting on Sunday, simply because he didn't know it was Sunday. He paid $30 for a lot of forged notes that had been advertised three weeks and the public cautioned not to negotiate them. He then paid a big Irishman with a foot like a forge hammer, to kick him all the way to a newspaper office, where he paid four years subscription in advance, and the editor to sign an agreement to knock him down and rob him, if he ever ordered his paper stopped again. — Silver State.

Cause of Butler's Death.

It is stated that autopsy on the body of General Butler, showed that the cause of death was the bursting of a small blood vessel in the brain, caused by a violent fit of coughing. All the organs were in excellent condition, and but for this accidental cause he would have probably lived several years. His brain weighed four ounces more than that of Daniel Webster, one of the largest on record.

There is a general feeling over the country, says the Inter Ocean, that we can get along for a spell now without European immigration. The character of the immigration for some time has not been encouraging, but now the danger from the threatening plague makes restriction imperative. Congress should act, and act at once. There is not a day to be lost.

The Silver State says a bill has already been introduced to repeal the irrigation law of 1889. The law has been given a fair trial and found wanting. The legislator who formulates a water law that will prove satisfactory to all parts of the State will earn undying fame.
